About the 2026 State of the Military Family Summit

America's military readiness depends on the strength of its families. As policies shift and communities adapt, military families have to navigate new environments quickly and push ahead despite uncertainties. Frequent moves, military spouse unemployment, food insecurity, and mental health struggles are prevalent in military life.

Join us to look closely at military spouse employment, the data that drives programs and policy solutions, and the opportunities for military spouses to fill critical gaps in healthcare roles across the country.

WHO WE ARE

The National Military Family Association (NMFA) is the leading 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to serving all military families. Since 1969, NMFA has worked with families to identify and solve the unique challenges of military life.

For more than 55 years, NMFA has been the go-to source for Administration and government officials, members of Congress, and key decision-makers who want to understand the issues facing military families. Between deployments, heightened operational tempo, military-mandated moves, financial challenges, the lasting physical and emotional tolls of war, and other uncertainties unique to military life, military families need more than a voice on Capitol Hill—they deserve our support.

OUR PROGRAMS

NMFA meets the immediate needs of America's military families with programs designed to support their financial security, well-being, and quality of life, including scholarships for military spouses, support and skill development for military teens, and summer camps for military kids in areas with the highest financial stress.

We are proud to be the voice for military families, addressing critical needs and creating long-term solutions. NMFA serves the families of service members, veterans, retired, wounded, or fallen members of the Army, Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force, Space Force, Coast Guard, and Commissioned Corps of the USPHS and NOAA.
