

Military Spouse Scholarships + Professional Funds

Frequent military moves and underemployment make it difficult for military spouses to help provide their family with financial stability, especially if a service member is injured. NMFA scholarships give funding to spouses pursuing career, certification programs, and education goals to help overcome these setbacks.

156K+ Scholarship applicants since 2004

10M+ Scholarship dollars awarded since 2004

With the unique military lifestyle in mind, our scholarship program accepts applications anytime—for an easier and simpler process for spouses to get started!

“Thank you again for your investment in and support of Military Spouses’ educational and career advancement goals. There are many challenges in pursuing these goals. Thankfully, in providing this scholarship, you have alleviated the financial challenge for me. I promise that wherever I can, I will help and support other military spouses as they pursue their own goals.”
